Increase of the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank rediscount rate from three and a half percent to four percent has been made marking the first change of rate policy since last summer.

The blight of juvenile court records must be kept from the lives of adolescent children according to Dr. Thomas Dawes Eliot Professor of Sociology at Northwestern University in an address before the Women's City Club of Cleveland.

Efforts to discover if Senator-Elect Vane (R) of Pennsylvania, had a hand in arranging a seat in congress for Rep. James M. Beck (R) of Pennsylvania, were smothered by Chairman Vincent, Michigan, at hearings on charges that Beck was not entitled to a seat in congress.

Arousing suspicion because she went to school with a large quantity of candy and several dollars in money, a 12-year-old girl of St. Marys, Ohio is being held on a charge of check forging. She made out a $5 check for her father, signed another's name and then cashed the check, authorities say.

Nicolas Titulescu, Rumanian minister of foreign affairs, has arrived in Rome ostensibly to arrange the preliminaries for the new Italian-Rumanian commercial pact. He made a visit of courtesy to Premier Mussolini, and will have a conference with the Duke.

Major-General Konzie W. Walker, chief of finance of the United States army, was retired after thirty-nine years of service. He will be succeeded by Colonel Rodolfo L. Carmichael, who will have the rank of Major-General while service as chief of finance.

COMMITTEE OF CITY WELFARE MAKES REPORT

Welfare work to be handled by a central committee for the city of Richmond will be discussed tonight when a committee, headed by Miss Nora Ashfield, appointed by Mayor Mattie Chandler in December, will make its report concerning the result of its survey of all welfare organizations of the city. The question was brought up last December and after a discussion a committee headed by Miss Nora Ashfield and assisted by Miss Katherine Beasley, welfare worker, and Miss Jean Blanchard, Red Cross worker, made a survey of the 27 local organizations and are now ready to report to the larger committee consisting of 18 members.

From advance reports, it is stated that all of the organizations favor a central bureau or clearing house from which they may obtain information regarding charity cases before they proceed in aiding of applicants. This bureau is to interfere in no way with present functioning organizations but is merely a co-operative organization according to Miss Ashfield. Details regarding the financing of the plan will also be discussed at the meeting tonight.

Members of the larger committee that will hear the report are: Ralph Bergen, T. N. Calfee, W. C. Dobler, W. T. Helms, Homer Patterson, Dan Reardon, Henry Solto, H. A. Johnston, Dr. T. A. Boyer, Dr. C. W. Cole, Dr. A. B. Hinkle, Capt. B. V. Ellison and the Mesdames Charles Blake, W. Gledhill, R. G. Lee, G. Malian, and Anna Wells.

Large Attendance At Revival Meet At M. E. Church

Several testimonies of converts were given during the revival service conducted by Rev. George W. Forman at the Community Methodist church last night. There was some splendid community singing and the hymn "Would you believe and Jesus receive" made famous by Charles Alexander on his evangelistic tour around the world about twenty years ago was the special solo rendered by Rev. Forman.

Rev. Forman's sermon subject last night was "The Jailer's question answered: 'What Must I Do to Be Saved?'" The answer was "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and Thou Shalt be Saved." Emphasis was placed on the fact that it wasn't running up the bank account or getting a corner on real estate but belief. That salvation was within the reach of every one. Rev. Forman stated that there are many things in this world which we do not understand, but yet we admit as being facts, and that promise of salvation was one of these. He also spoke of the debt which the Savior paid for us on the cross of Calvary and that many human beings paid debts through friendship and sacrifice.

The Pioneer Girls of which Miss Annabelle Jarvis is president attended the services last night in a body.

The topic of tonight's sermon will be "The Five Deaths" from the text "The Wages of Sin is Death." Special music will be rendered.

The eighteen pupils taken in yesterday bring the total membership to 45, the largest that the society has known since its organization. Plans for chartering a special street car to take students to Hayward to witness the three games to be played by the three teams of the high school were discussed as a large crowd is expected to attend.

San Quentin Prison Break Frustrated By New Warden

(City Universal Service)
SAN QUENTIN, Jan. 24.—A well-armed prison mutiny that threatened more bloodshed than the Poison riot on Thanksgiving Day, was frustrated here last night after months of secret investigation. It was divulged today by Warden James B. Holohan.

Four prisoners played leading parts in the unfinished drama that was to have ended in a wholesale prison break, shooting and death. Two of them are the ring leaders of the plot. Fred and Roy Cook, of San Francisco, serving 16 years terms. The other two are "long term men" who acted as detectives for Warden

LOUGHEED TO BE RETURNED FOR RE-TRIAL

MARTINEZ, Jan. 24.—That the prosecution in the trial of Victor Lougheed, prominent San Francisco engineer charged with a statutory offense on complaint of Isabel Leighton, solicitor for an Oakland newspaper, erred in committing on Lougheed's refusal to testify in further detail as to the particular crime for which he was on trial, is the gist of the opinion of the Appellate Court in remanding the Lougheed case back to the Contra Costa courts for re-trial.

Lonely

A PERFECT 56 and the fattest chubbier girl in New York, Margie Evans, above, is looking for a suitable mate who admires a little comfortable flesh. If she works hard and gets any thinner she'll lose her job, and she wants some one to fall back on, figuratively speaking.

To protect them from the vengeance of the other prisoners, Warden Holohan is keeping Kepford and Rowell in the condemned cell under guard, he announced that an appeal will be made to Governor Young to give the two men "special consideration" in the way of a shorter sentence for their aid in exposing the plot.

B. P. W. Club Hears Address By Dr. Meikle

Thirty-one business and professional women of Richmond heard Dr. Theresa Meikle at the Hotel Carquinez last night speak on the subject of "Community Property" after dinner had been served to those present. Dr. Theresa Meikle is a doctor of jurisprudence, having received her degree at the University of California some five years ago. Since her entrance into the law profession she has served as assistant district attorney of San Francisco, and is at present in the narcotic division of the federal government. Among the women present were Mayor Mattie Chandler.

Two Released On Charges Of Attacking Girl

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—With the sensational charges against John Mumford and William McCulloch standing dismissed by Police Judge Sylvian Lazarus, a sudden turn in the progress in the Sally Whitcomb court spectacle threw the public spotlight upon Jackson Swisher, third of the trio of prominent society youths alleged to have participated in the prolonged "gin cry" culminating in the girl's attack charges.

Sitting as a committing magistrate in police court today, Judge Lazarus held Swisher to answer in Superior Court on the charge of attacking Sally in a Mason street hotel room.

Holding that there was nothing in the records to show that Mumford was a principal accessory to the alleged attack, Judge Lazarus dismissed charges against the youth and took similar action in the case of William McCulloch, who did not have a hearing in the police court because which has engrossed the attention of thousands during the past few weeks.

Swisher will be formally bound over to the superior court tomorrow at 11 o'clock in the morning. Of the three youths who were the target of Sally's lurid allegations only one remains to bear the brunt of the attack. And Sally some weeks hence will have to tell her vivid story all over again, this time before a judge and jury.

Other members of the committee are District Attorney A. B. Tinning, A. F. Bray, city attorney of Martinez, and T. H. DeLap of Richmond.

It was arranged to hold a conference in the court room of Department No. 2 in Martinez on February 14 at 11 a. m., at which all attorneys in Contra Costa County will be urged to attend to discuss whether the county bar association shall be continued in view of the reorganization of the attorney's state association.

Vaudeville Show For Cosmopolitan Club Progressing

Laura "The Woman Who Knows" will be one of the main attractions on the excellent program which will be presented by the Cosmopolitan Club in the Roosevelt Auditorium, Saturday evening, January 28. This will be her first appearance in the west and after her engagement here she will leave for the southland to fill engagements there. All questions asked by the audience will be answered by her.

Other excellent numbers of singing and dancing have been arranged for and one is a musical sketch which will be staged by the members of the Richmond Musical club in costume. The proceeds of the show will benefit the undernourished children who are now being cared for at the Sunshine camp, being maintained by the Contra Costa County Public Health Association in Marsh Creek. A nominal fee is being charged and the public will help the worthy cause, at the same time enjoys worth-while evening's entertainment by attending.

Plans are going forward at a rapid rate and a rehearsal will be held tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the auditorium.

HOW MONEY GROWS

It is really wonderful how interest, added to regular deposits even though they are small, counts up. The attractive interest now paid by Building and Loan Associations, which are under state supervision and as strong and safe as anything can be, offers annual opportunity to those who want to get ahead. For definite information consult the Buyers Guide on the classified page.

SMITH A "PERSONAL ISSUE"

The one real live topic of discussion, of course, is how the selection will affect the fortunes of Governor Smith. The dyed-in-the-wool Smith men are now explaining that Houston was their choice in the beginning and that their votes were deliberately cast for that city. The argument is that whether they like it or not, in Governor Smith they have an unfortunate personal issue on their hands, and that while they feel certain that the South will cast its electoral votes for the governor they are afraid of such a lack of enthusiasm that their victory possibilities in Missouri, Kentucky, in Tennessee and other border states will be seriously affected.

They are explaining, accordingly, that they have deliberately gone into the Southern states and that once they nominate the governor in that section, that the Southern democrats, as a matter of decency and hospitality, will feel obliged not only to vote the ticket but to keep their tongues off the candidate. They are not altogether happy in this argument, and they show it in their conversation.

There are others, however, who argue that the deliberate planning for the close contact clashes of these two curious wings of the democratic party, is most unfortunate—that it is poor tactics to seek to avoid a political lynching by taking a candidate down to the territory where there is so much loose fire wood lying around, and where all the trees have well-placed branches.

There are others it must be admitted who say that the Smith people are simply making the best of a bad bargain which, after all, is pretty good tactics. What happened to them was that their own inside machine of the National Committee slipped. It is worth noting that on the roll call, Brennan of Chicago, McGillicuddy of Maine, the Massachusetts group and Mack of New York and the rabid Smith men all voted for San Francisco.

Dignity Of Silver Hair Must Reflect In Her Dress

DEAR MME. HALL-DEANE:

I have two problems that I would like to have you help me with. My friends consider me very fortunate, as I am the possessor of a slender, youthful figure. On the other hand I am conscious of the fact that my face does not fit in with my figure, as I am advanced in years.

My hair is scrappy and aged, and when I select clothes in keeping with my youthful figure the result is incongruous, and sometimes grotesque. I am aware of this. Will you please give me a little advice on the question of dress? I make my own clothes.

Here is my present problem: I would like to make a party dress for my little granddaughter, who soon celebrates her third birthday. Please suggest something.

MRS. W. It is a wise woman indeed who, while preserving her youth and making the most of her natural attractions, is content to grow old gracefully. Now, we have no intention whatsoever to consign every woman who has passed the first bloom of youth to the chimney corner, a la grandmother's day, but there is a happy medium.

By all means keep your youth, but be thankful for your youthful figure, but let your choice in clothes be tempered by a dignity becoming to your age. The V-neckline, becoming to so many types, especially the stout, should be avoided by the women whose neck is thin and scrawny, for this particular line makes the neck look even more slim and the face emaciated and hollow.

The turtleneck or oval neckline with its soft draping, scarf and oval or rounded necklines are all the means keep your youth, neck, for there is a flattering softening effect.

There is a happy medium between the knee-length skirt of the flapper grandmother and the somewhat droll looking long skirt of the ultra-old fashioned lady who permits herself to be catalogued as a "back number." It goes without saying that you will do well to confine yourself to conservative modes with slim lines, and turn your back upon period gowns and bouffant effects. When it comes to color, the elderly woman of today has as wide a choice as her daughter or her granddaughter. I, for one, while thoroughly in sympathy with conservative styles for the older woman, would be sorry to see her eschew the gay, happy colors and deck herself in the sackcloth and ashes of somber black.

One other suggestion—while chances are that your neck and face are not nearly as "aged" as you imagine, it is up to you to see that they keep pace with your youthful figure. Don't let yourself "go." After all, in this modern era it is better to err on the side of youth than on the side of age.

For your little granddaughter, I would suggest a little dress of shell pink georgette, unlined by two tone pink and blue velvet ribbon. It should be sleeveless and may have a wee cape collar at the back. Finish the skirt with four or five frilly ruffles with pivot edges. At the center front the fullness may be shirred in yoke effect, the velvet ribbon arranged in loops and headed with dainty chiffon flowers, falling from the yoke.

DESIGNS OF DIVERTING CHIC

Paris shifts the position of the jabot and revives tucks as dominating features of the frocks pictured here. The first model in dotted silk has vestee collar to correspond with cuffs and jabot of plain material. Buttons trim the long close-fitting sleeves. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 39-inch figured and 3/4 yard plain material.

The version of the straightline frock pictured to the right is exceedingly interesting, the gathered skirt being trimmed at the lower edge with three tucks, an idea borrowed from the semi-fitting blouse. The square neck is bound with self-material, the sleeves being confined to puffs. Embroidery is also a featured trimming. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 36-inch material.

First Model: Pictorial Review Printed Pattern No. 3923. Sizes 34 to 44 bust, 45 cents.

Second Model: Printed Pattern No. 3905. Sizes 10 to 17 years, 35 cents.

Embroidery No. 13133, transfer, blue or yellow, 25 cents.

This matter of making a home in one room is far more a social problem than an economic one, and it certainly is a very personal one with a great many girls.

"I see my boy friend almost every night in the week and we can't always go out somewhere, he can't afford it." That is one girl's statement.

Another one writes: "I am heartbroken. I have broken up with the only man I'll ever love because I had nowhere to entertain him and he hated to stay in his own room alone nights. When I refused to let him visit me at my room he soon found other company. He used to take me to the movies or something twice a week and wanted to see me three or four other nights, too."

Hasn't the day gone by when the propriety of the thing is thought of? Human beings are social creatures. A girl or a man live to himself and spend night after night alone in a small room and be normal. If two young people are in love and want to see each other the girl's "home" is the place that most of the entertaining should be done. If the girl's home is a one-room-in-a-furnished apartment then that is where she should be allowed to entertain her friend.

A simple meal prepared under difficulties, perhaps, served as daintily as the girl knows how, an intimate talk with no unsympathetic outsiders—all these things make life worth while and tend more toward founding a home than all other forms of entertaining.

My Dear Miss Lee:

I am a widow 32 years of age with one child. I have kept company for eight years with a married man and we dearly love each other, but there is no hope of his getting a divorce as he cannot afford to keep us both. His wife knows of our friendship, but does not seem to mind as she knows he cannot get a divorce. They have no children. The worst phase of the situation is that our love must be kept secret and our friends who have met him think he is single. We have tried to part but he vain. He always returns with the plea of platonic friendship, but I know we must sever relations as it is causing too many heart-aches. Do you think our love is sinful? It has lasted too long for infatuation and he has always been faithful and has seen me almost every day. What would you advise?—M. M.

Love, true love, is never sinful, but it is a sin in my mind to willfully bring unhappiness to another. When you suggest that your friendship must be broken up as it is causing too many heart-aches, I think you have decided for yourself what the right thing is to do. Apparently the man's wife does not want a divorce, as she, of course, could get one and I think it is her privilege to keep her husband (even if he is only hers in name) if she wants to. Some women are like that. Some women apparently haven't the capacity for love or they would not be satisfied with any such arrangements. Won't you have peace of mind at least if you give him up and don't you think that counts for a great deal? Without honor there can be no love and if you are doing the dishonorable thing you can't be happy.

BEWARE OF MARRIED MEN BY ARLINE DEHAAS

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures Inc. "BEWARE OF MARRIED MEN," starring Irene Rich, is a Warner Bros. picture, production of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Myra Martin, secretary to Leonard, a divorcee lawyer to whom she is engaged, learns that her sister, Helene, is infatuated with Huxley Sheldon, whose wife, Nita, is divorcing him. But Helene, who is a divorcee herself, returns to find that Sheldon, so she believes, has, on her account, a hold over Myra. Angry, she goes to Sheldon's apartment to confront him. But Gilbert arrives and then Myra and Sheldon hide each one as the other arrives and finally Myra and Nita arrive and begin a search for evidence. Helene and Myra, trying to escape, meet in the room where Gilbert is hidden in a closet.

"We'd better go back into your room," Myra advised. "She's certain to take this one next."

"But we can't get out of there any better than here," Helene wailed.

"Be quiet. We've got to chance it, anyhow." Myra took her sister's hand and gently opened the door. They both looked about them cautiously, and saw nothing but the usual furniture, windows, and the closet door that was tightly closed. Gilbert was holding on to that closet door as though his life depended on it. He was almost afraid to breathe, and the closet was suffocating, even with the little gratings that provided ventilation—or so-called ventilation. Sitting here alone in this darkness made him feel like a small child who was being punished. He listened.

"Oh, how awful—how perfectly awful," Myra panted, exhausted from the fright and the long run. She took a deep breath of the sunlit air. "I never thought I'd ever be so glad to see a city street in all my life." The rumbling of traffic, the passing cars, the people walking soberly along or hurrying to appointments, all seemed very near and very dear.

"Where's our car, Myra?" Helene asked as soon as she could get her breath.

"It's down the street a ways. I left it down there because I didn't want it parked in front of Sheldon's apartment. There's Leonard's car right there." Myra pointed to the roadster parked near the cooped-up archway of the house they had just quitted.

"Well, let's go get the car and get away from here. I feel as though I couldn't stand another minute in this place."

"So do I."

They started along down the street.

"It'll be funny when Nita Sheldon discovers Leonard in there," Helene giggled.

"It won't be so funny, because he'll have a hard time explaining why he, as her lawyer, should be hiding in her husband's house," Myra returned. "But let's not talk about it right now. I couldn't stand anything more. There's the car."

They halted in front of Myra's roadster and started to climb in.

"Myra!" Helene shrieked. "Myra, I've forgotten my handbag and my gloves. I left them all back there in that living room. And my bag has cards and letters and everything in it!"

"Oh, Helene, how could you be so careless!" Myra scolded. "But there's no use crying over spilt milk. We've got to find that bag before Nita Sheldon does."

"But how, Myra?" Helene wailed. "I can't go back to that house."

"Wait, I've an idea." Myra took her sister's arm and headed back towards the apartment. "It may work."

CHAPTER XVII

In Sheldon's apartment the search was still going on. Sheldon was, by this time, in such a dazed condition that he trailed after his wife and Nita, scarcely knowing what to expect. No one had been found in the last room searched, although that was scarcely to be expected. Sheldon reminded himself, for it was the one room in which, to his knowledge, he had hidden one. And now there was only the remaining room to be searched. If they weren't in there—well, he'd believe that he had dreamed the entire thing.

Gilbert for his part waited anxiously for the departure of the two women. He had heard whispering. He could hear their plans for escape, and he felt a sensation of relief when he heard them open the door. Cautiously he crept from his hiding place, wondering where Mrs. Sheldon was searching now.

He crept over to the door of the room in which he had been first placed and listened. No one there. They had searched that room, anyhow. He'd try the other door.

He stole softly across the carpet and bent down, listening for voices.

He couldn't hear a sound in that room. Where were they all, anyhow. Suddenly, without warning, the door leading from the hallway into his room burst open. There stood Nita, Botta and Sheldon. Gilbert jumped to his feet, his face red, a guilty look in his eyes. He was caught—trapped. An excuse! He must have an excuse.

"What! You here! What are you doing in my husband's apartment?" Nita Sheldon exclaimed, staring at Gilbert.

"Yes, what are you doing here?" Botta stepped forward importantly, mouthing his cigar in his excitement.

Gilbert looked from one face to the other, trying to find his evidence for you. He walked over to Mrs. Sheldon and stood beside her, looking very knowing. He glowered at Sheldon. Frowning he mopped his forehead and grinned cheerfully to himself.

Sheldon was nonplussed for the moment. Then he saw through Gilbert's ruse. He looked at Nita and saw that she was eying the lawyer a trifle suspiciously. It was time for him to take a hand in the action now. He felt relieved that he had vanished into thin air, and he began to feel somewhat calmer. He must support Gilbert in his statement and make Nita believe that it was the truth.

"How dare you sneak into my apartment this way?" He turned wrathfully on Gilbert. "Why, this is the most outrageous thing I've ever heard of. I'll—I'll have you up for this. I'll see whether this sort of thing can be done with impunity—I'll—I'll—"

"Sheldon!"

Helene giggled mysteriously.

COLLEEN TOPS
SCREEN SHOW AT CALIFORNIA

Larry Kent's stock has made a new high record with his selection by John McCormick, producer of Colleen Moore's starring pictures, for the leading male role in her support in "Her Wild Oat," the new picture at the California Theatre today, which Marshall Neilan directed.

This is the most important part entrusted to the young leading man in his short but successful career in Hollywood. McCormick has unlimited confidence in Kent and predicts a brilliant future for him.

Kent came to Hollywood two years ago after leaving the medical college of the University of California. The day he reached Hollywood he landed a job in two-reel pictures. Then came juvenile leads in "McFadden's Flats," "The Sea Tiger," "Harbored Wire," and other productions. He has light brown hair, blue eyes and is a first rate athlete. He served in the United States Navy during the war, which was natural enough inasmuch as he was born at sea.

He was one of a dozen prospective leading men who were given screen tests for the part.

The story of "Her Wild Oat" combines New York and a fashionable seaside resort as its locale, and is a sparkling comedy-drama from the pen of Howard Irving Young. Gerald C. Duffy wrote the screen play.

Other features on the same program include "Big Brother," an "Our Gang" comedy, current news events, and Larry Canelo, at the organ.

Banker Addresses Lions Luncheon

Business predictions look bright for the country, according to the message delivered by G. P. Dauglas, vice-president of the American Trust company of Berkeley, before the Lions club at the Hotel Carquinez Tuesday noon.

During the course of his speech Douglas remarked that:

"Advertising is more than ever being regarded as an outstanding force in business. There is a growing use of newspaper advertising, as evidenced in the fact that Ford spent most of the million and a half to advertise his new car in the newspapers. I read the advertising more myself in the papers, and I think we all do," said Douglas.

Ivan Conn, assistant manager of the American Trust company, in Richmond, was chairman of the day. Errol Lane, and Emil Esola of the First Richmond branch, entertained with saxophone and piano music. H. H. Mylander was named chairman of the San Jose convention committee. President Dan Reardon announced that Walnut Creek would put on the program on February 14. Interesting reports were given by President Dan Reardon, Secretary A. C. Faris, J. O. Ford, C. E. Clark and others who attended the convention at Fresno last Saturday. E. H. Higgins announced that the committee named to sponsor a Boy Scout troop would hold a meeting tonight to plan for the new troop.

TRIAL POSTPONED

The date of the trial of Charles W. Shade, 1704 Potrero avenue, Richmond, which was scheduled to take place yesterday has been set ahead one week by Judge Odel Shade is to stand trial for alleged violation of the Wright act.

School nurse says
all girls should

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

Queen Of The Hot Dogs

COLLEEN MOORE has a new role in "HER WILD OAT" beginning at the California Theatre today. Colleen runs a lunch counter and later starts the "Ritz" Gang in Florida.

Sisters over the skin

KIPLING'S famous "Colonel's Lady and Judy O'Grady," who were "sisters under the skin," are sisters over the skin as well in these days when the latest and most authoritative fashion news is available to every woman in the advertising columns of her newspaper.

Today no woman's clothes need proclaim the thickness of her pocketbook. The advertisements which meet the eye of the woman accustomed to social secretaries and liveried chauffeurs, and guide her in her selection of a wardrobe—likewise greet and guide the young lady who earns her own living. And both may be thankful that advertising has forever banished the dowdy, frumpy "female."

Where will the waistline be? Bows at the cuffs, or not? "V" neck or square? How long—or how short? What materials does Paris favor? What colors are "being worn?" Those questions are answered for everyone—in the advertisements. And with the answers are coupled the names of manufacturers and merchants who make and sell materials, trimmings, accessories, on which you can rely. For those advertised names are advertised only because they are reliable. Otherwise you would probably never hear of them.

You can follow the advertised styles with assurance—and buy by advertised names with profit

HARD ARTERIES

Hardening arteries indicate high blood pressure, which means that the blood in the heart and blood vessels is under too great a tension—a condition which may end in sudden death.

High blood pressure, indicated by hard arteries, heart palpitation, dizziness and difficulty in breathing, is the penalty of our abnormal habits of living. We place too great a strain on the vital organs, especially the liver. The liver becomes "limp" or sluggish, fails to cleanse the blood of the toxic poisons formed in food waste. The whole system then becomes toxic, with stomach, kidneys, heart and blood vessels affected.

It is generally recognized that the liver occasionally needs a little help. There is nothing better for this, as medical men know, than a little ox gall. Ox gall has been found to be a great stimulant for the liver. The genuine, pure ox gall is to be had, dainty and tasteless, in the form of Dioxol tablets. Each tablet represents 10 drops of pure ox gall and costs less than 2c at good druggists. To be sure of getting the genuine, look for the name Dioxol and picture of ox's head on the package.

WILSON NAMED DIRECTOR OF J. R. RED CROSS

marked compliment to the West and to the educational standards is seen in the appointment of Dr. H. B. Wilson, superintendent of the Berkeley schools, as national director of the American Junior Red Cross, succeeding the late Mr. Arthur W. Dunn. Dr. Wilson is one of the country's outstanding figures in the field of education and brings to his new post a record of distinguished service that is well known to Red Cross workers in the Pacific Coast states, and especially those who have been interested in the development of the Junior Red Cross program in the schools are delighted with Dr. Wilson's acceptance of the position for which he was selected by the Red Cross Central Committee.

For the past nine and one-half years, Dr. Wilson has been superintendent of schools in Berkeley, having under his direction a staff of 500 teachers, 13,000 day school and 1,000 night school pupils. These are assigned to 17 elementary school buildings, four Junior High Schools and one Senior High School. Each building is enrolled one hundred percent as a unit in the Junior Red Cross, and the children are engaged in a program of unselfish service to others and of national and international good will that has repeatedly earned the commendation of Red Cross officials.

Ever since the war Dr. Wilson has been a devoted supporter of the Junior Red Cross and to a considerable extent has been instrumental in bringing it to its present important position as an educational project. When he took up his duties in Berkeley in 1918, he became chairman of a Junior Red Cross Advisory Committee of the Pacific Branch and when this committee was later dissolved, continued informally in his advisory capacity. He has presented the Junior Red Cross work before numerous teachers' institutes and superintendents' conferences.

In speaking of his appointment Dr. Wilson said: "I am leaving what I am doing with many deep regrets. Yet I go gladly and with inspiration to the only thing that has interested me to consider going since I came here. This is owing to the wide national and international character of the Junior Red Cross program and the opportunities I believe it offers for leading the children of the United States in ways of thinking and in habits of action that will make for better and greater usefulness on their part here and to the relations of our growing children in the world."

Dr. Wilson is a graduate of the University of Indiana, and holds a degree of Master of Arts from Columbia University and an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Washburn College. Previous to coming to Berkeley in 1913, he served as superintendent of schools at Topeka, Kansas; Decatur, Illinois; Franklin, Indiana; and Salem, Indiana. He has held important offices in educational bodies in both California and the Middle West and has prominently served the National Educational Association as president, in 1911 and 1912, of its Department of Elementary Education, and as a member, from 1923 to 1928, of the Curriculum Commission, Department of Superintendence. He is the author of a number of books on teaching methods and co-author of a series of school readers. During his superintendency at Berkeley, the courses of study have all been rewritten and republished, and interest in the revised forms has been so great that many of them have gone through a second edition. This, it is believed, is because instead of stressing mere book material, they have emphasized the use and teaching of that which was socially valuable.

The Junior Red Cross organization of which Dr. Wilson becomes head numbers an enrollment of more than 5,800,000 American school children.

Navy Joins In Oil War Of Standard And Dutch Shell Co.

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The Navy Department today became a party to the oil war between the Standard and Royal Dutch Shell companies by ordering a board of investigation to study means of preventing the British-owned Shell interests from obtaining oil out of the Naval Reserve leases in California.

Rear Admirals H. H. Rousseau, John Halligan and E. H. Campbell were named on the board.

This action was taken after a formal report had been submitted to Secretary of the Navy Wilbur to the effect that the Honolulu Consolidated Oil company is selling oil derived from the reserves to the foreign corporation.

Officials here have been aroused by persistent rumors that British companies had closed down and sealed wells in British possessions to conserve their supply while they were buying American oil and depleting the resources in this country at a time when a concerted drive is being made for American conservation.

Navy officials were particularly incensed to learn that a large portion of this oil is being taken from reserves which the government established to guarantee a fuel supply for the fleet in the event of a national emergency. It was admitted that Congress will be asked to enact special legislation at once to halt the activity of the Shell companies in America.

Secretary Wilbur issued this statement: "Reports have been received from the inspector of Naval Petroleum Reserves in California to the effect that the Honolulu Consolidated Oil company is selling the oil derived from the Naval Reserve to the Shell company and also to the effect that the Royal Dutch Oil is being sold to the Shell company, and I have appointed Rear Admiral H. H. Rousseau, head of the Oil Service, Rear Admiral John Halligan and the Judge Advocate General Rear Admiral E. H. Campbell, as a board to consider the propriety of such remedial legislation as may be desirable and necessary, for report to the appropriate committees in Congress.

When the oil reserves were reclaimed by the navy following the oil scandal, Reserve No. 1 was closed down because the oil there could be stored in the ground by sealing the wells. In Reserve No. 2 the place was so "check-boarded" that private wells were draining the naval reserves, so it was decided to keep them open and a number of leases were entered into, many of them with the Honolulu company. It was declared that the British do not permit reciprocity in the purchase of oil and that the British company is now waging war on American interests, as well as depleting American reserves at a time when every effort should be made to conserve the supply.

from the county jail, that he was going to commit a crime that would attract wide-spread attention.

Wooden barriers were thrown up around the courtroom of Superior Judge Charles Hardy in the Hall of Justice today in preparation for the opening of the trial tomorrow. These and heavy forces of guards will be relied upon to thwart any demonstration or attempt of the expected throngs to rush the courtroom in order to witness the proceedings.

Waiting crowds will be deprived of any glimpse of Hickman on his way to and from the courtroom. The prisoner will be taken to court by a rear passageway from the county jail, which is located on upper floors of the same building.

The prosecution will be headed by District Attorney Asa Keyes and his assistant, Forrest Murray. On the defense are Jerome Walsh of Kansas City, Richard Cantillon, and Frank Sievers, whose services were enlisted only a few days ago.

Difficulty is anticipated in drawing a jury. Perhaps no crime in the history of Los Angeles has so stirred the community as the Parker case. It is admitted that it will be a hard task finding jurors who have not formed some opinion based on reports on conversation regarding the case.

Hickman, according to his confessions as given out by the District Attorney's office, kidnapped the Parker girl on December 15, last, with intent to realize $1500 in ransom. It was while holding her prisoner in his apartment that he was seized with a murderous impulse, strangled her with a towel while she was bound in a chair, and dismembered her body. It was declared.

The head and the upper part of the torso were returned to the girl's father, Perry M. Parker, a bank official. Parker gave the kidnaper $1500 in $20 bills, expecting to receive his child back alive and unharmed.

Broadcasting of the serial numbers of these bills led to the arrest of Hickman, who had fled from the city. A stolen automobile. A bill tendered to a Seattle haberdasher uncovered his trail, and he was arrested the next day at Pendleton, Ore.

Hickman, following his confessions of the kidnapping and killing of the Parker child, admitted a series of hold-ups in this and other cities, including a robbery which resulted in the death of C. Ivy Toms, Los Angeles druggist, a year ago last Christmas eve. Murder charges in connection with the death of Toms were filed against Hickman and Welby Hunt, 16, his admitted accomplice in the Toms robbery and several other hold-ups.

Solon Asks $110, 000, 000 For Military Housing

By JOHN T. LAMBERT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—A total of $110,000,000 will have to be spent by the United States government to eradicate the woeful housing conditions now suffered by its khaki-clad officers and men.

That estimate was made today by Representative James of Michigan, ranking member of the House Military Affairs Committee, following a report to President Coolidge of the observations of housing conditions made by him in a tour of practically all the government's military posts.

James described the army housing conditions as "good, bad and indifferent."

He said in Panama he found soldiers quartered in infested sheds erected by the French when they were attempting to build the canal more than a generation ago. He found soldiers' quarters in Hawaii through which the rain poured as through a sieve, he said.

"The condition commands the attention of the administration and of congress," said James. "In some of our army posts we have the finest quarters established for any army in the world, and across the street from them, dilapidated, dangerous barracks which are the unsafe relics of war-time construction.

"And it was extremely interesting to observe that despite the sorry shelters provided for them, the patriotism of the men who enlisted in the service of the country has maintained their morale on a magnificent scale."

Representative James evidently found President Coolidge interested in abolishing intolerable conditions, for he left the White House optimistic that new housing legislation will be successful in the present congress.

James said that $20,000,000 of new housing construction has already been authorized by congress. About $13,000,000 of that money has been appropriated for and the balance of $7,000,000 for new construction was provided in the budget sent by President Coolidge to congress.

"We expect a favorable report from the Ways and Means Committee on the $7,000,000 appropriation bill within a week," said James. "When that is disposed of the Military Affairs Committee will doubtless bring out a new bill authorizing additional new construction.

"We are anxious to ascertain how far the army has advanced with its five-year city expansion program in order that our legislation may include quarters for the air forces."

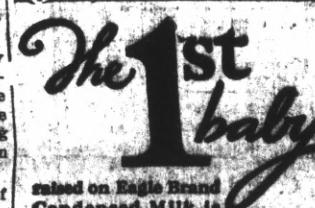

Chairman Morin of the House Military Affairs Committee also discussed army housing with the president.

CAL. PLAYERS SIGN FOR BIG LEAGUE TEAMS

BERKELEY, Jan. 24.—Upholding the reputation of the University of California for sending at least one man every year into the Big League or Coast League baseball, Captain Ira Robie of the 1927 Golden Bear baseball team has signed to join the Seattle Club of the Pacific Coast League on February 1.

Robie has been first string shortstop on Carl Zamocho's varsity for the last two years, making the trip to Hawaii with the team in 1926 and last year going to Japan for the series with Keio and other island empire universities.

Other players on California baseball teams who have graduated into professional baseball include Ray Jountin, who is with the St. Louis Cardinals and was a big factor in their successful campaign for the world's championship in 1926. Ray and Claude Rowher, who went to Pittsburgh; Caddy Works, who played with Pittsburgh for a time and is now head basketball coach at U. C. L. A.; Russ Elison, who signed with Cleveland and was later sent to Portland in the Coast League; and Moki Thompson, George Makin and Job Minty all went to the St. Louis Cardinals and were later farmed. Last year Jack Nounnan, one of the best pitchers developed by Zamocho, was signed by Detroit.

Improvements For Athletic Field Told By W. L. Seawright

Development of the municipal playground into a modern playground was made known when W. L. "Doc" Seawright revealed some of the plans to be carried out by the city. The ground is now being used on Saturdays for soccer practice.

Metropolitan Square was formerly the center of attraction for boys of all ages, who were interested in games, but with the making of that property into a business site the playground was established at Nicholl field on Macdonald avenue near the Civic Center.

A track around the outside of the field will be constructed as soon as weather conditions will assure that the work will be to no avail. Also it is planned to have a backdrop for the baseball grounds erected. The only thing lacking will be a clubhouse, which will be built in the future at a cost of $20,000, according to plans already laid.

NOT A SUCKER FOR A HOOK—

By Pete Williams

Knocked Out By James Jennings

Pugilist's records and histories are brimful of facts and figures, but nary a one contains information as to what boxer fought the greatest number of matches within a year.

Press notices from Al Lippe, who manages Battling Levinsky, former light heavyweight champion, claim the honor for old warrior with fifty-six bouts in twelve months.

The writer quizzed many veteran managers and boxers and all seemed willing to grant the palm to Levinsky.

Some thought Jeff Smith was the record holder, but could produce no facts to bear out their contention, nor do the boxing encyclopedias disclose any.

Harry Greb, Tiger Flowers, Johnny Dundee and Young Stribling were also mentioned as the busiest boxers in history.

Greb almost equaled the latter's total with fifty-four fights in a year.

Flowers' best was thirty-six and Young Stribling's thirty-five.

They fought over longer distances at those figures, mostly ten and twelve-rounders, while Levinsky and Greb had many six and eight-round tussles during their record stretch.

Dundee's high mark was forty-four in 1911 and was liberally interspersed with four and six heat mills.

Low Diamond kicks in with the information that Billy Algiers the Coast boxer, has a mark which will never be equalled with a total of 104 matches, all fought during the years when four-canto quarrels were the limit in California.

Algiers boxed as many as three fights during an evening.

Jimmy Bronson holds this common feat thirty or forty years back, and that the ancient gladiators fought as many bouts in a day as Algiers, but over longer distances.

He recalls an evening when Charley Goldman fought George Kitson at three different clubs. The main events did not go on until midnight or later, when permitted the preliminary boys to dash from one club to another.

GUS AMOS TELLS ONE

Gus Amos, Jess McMahon's aide-de-camps, in his 60's and full of ring lore, cannot recall Goldman's triple engagement in one evening but vividly relates how, in 1906 Abe Attel picked out an opponent at the old Olympic A. S. in Harlem, then threw an overcoat over his ring toes, hopped into a cab, rode downtown to Billy Elmer's club on 42nd street and stiffened Tony Bender in two frames.

Won't some of you demon statisticians of things fistic enlighten us if you can, prove any ancient or modern ring warrior worthy of Levinsky's claims?

Don't ring in John L. Sullivan's exhibition tour, starts in September, 1928, and lasting nine months, during which he offered a prize of $10,000 to any man he could not defeat in four rounds, and knocked out fifty men who doubted him.

Sullivan was a god compared to our modern heavies, none of whom would fight a stranger for $10,000.

BAD RULE HURTS BOXING

One of the most apparent evils of boxing which is ignored by the boxing commission is the rule which prohibits more than two boxers under the one management appearing on the same program.

Frequently two boxers of the same stable on the one bill is an injustice to managers without influence or connections with the matchmakers.

This also leads to some of

LUTHERANS AND CHRISTIANS IN CAGE VICTORIES

Second games of the second round of the Sunday School Basketball League played on the local "Y" court last night resulted in the following scores: Christian defeated St. Edmund's in the first game 24-20 while Grace Lutheran defeated Baptist 45-13.

Fenix and Craig were high point men in the first game with ten and nine points apiece, while Baldwin of Grace Lutheran scored eight of the buckets to help win over Baptists high point man, Wilfords, who made 3 buckets.

Following are the teams as they lined up on the court:

ST. EDMUND'S—Forwards, Baker and Freeby; center, F. Fenix; guards, Goldworthy and R. Fenix.

CHRISTIAN—Forwards, Craig and Christian; center, Moore; guards, Torrence and Abbey; Substitutes, Bowens, Moore, and Brown.

the terrible matches we have witnessed recently.

A manager with a headliner always insists that some fifth rally also under his wing be placed on a boxing bill before he will sign a contract for his star.

Ordinarily the "anchor" of these tramps are dubbed by matchmakers, would not get a bout under any circumstances, and frequently ruin what would otherwise be a well-balanced card.

They are worth millions to the public and 8 cents as attractions to the promoters, but the pilot of the star calmly demands anywhere from $500 to $1,500 for his human chess.

The commission would put a stop to this form of robbery by ruling that no more than a single boxer of any management be allowed on any card.

It would protect the public from rotten matches and permit good boxers an opportunity to get bouts.

As it is, there are at least twenty or thirty local fighters of proved ability who can't get matches because of this unfair rule.

JONES PLEADS FOR SUPPORT OF U. S. SHIPS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The American flag will disappear from the high seas unless the government continues its operation of the American Merchant fleet, Senator Jones (R), of Washington, told the Senate today.

Jones pleaded for support from both parties for his bill authorizing the shipping board to replace obsolete ships and buy new ships as the need arises. The measure would also prohibit the board from selling vessels unless by unanimous vote of its members.

Condemning the plea of take the government out of the shipping business, Jones pointed out that it is not a question of government operation, but of government operation or none at all. He added:

"The government is in the shipping business at the present time because there are no private interests at hand to take these vessels and continue them in operation. American taxpayers are now paying millions of dollars in interest annually because this country lacked an adequate merchant marine at the beginning of the World War."

In response to a question by Senator Bingham (R), of Connecticut, Jones declared that he personally favored a ship subsidy but he doubted if the present Congress could be induced to pass such a measure. He added:

"We have no assurance that a ship subsidy for private interests would have the desired effect at this time. There is no guarantee that it would induce private operators to construct ships. The only reasonable assurance we have that ships will be built is for the government to get behind the Merchant Marine."

UNFOUNDED RUMORS
How often in the course of the day's work one hears everything is going "up" and how often we assume this condition exists rather than make comparisons with prices one year ago or better still, investigate prices in general for ourselves. If this were the case the results would be more encouraging than the unfounded rumor. Let's accept only facts based on our own conclusions and our general tolerance along these lines will be elevated to a marked degree.

Colombia And U. S. Clash In Safeguarding Panama Canal

By GEORGE W. HINMAN, JR.
HAVANA, Jan. 24.—Colombia and the United States clashed today over American proposals designed to safeguard the Panama Canal against the intrusion of foreign aircraft.

The dispute came over an amendment drafted by the American delegation to modify the project of a Pan-American aviation convention. The purpose of the amendment was to authorize the United States to enter into special agreements with Panama and Cuba for the protection of the canal and the Guantanamo naval base.

When Ambassador Henry P. Fletcher read the amendment before the commission on communications of the Pan-American Conference, there was an immediate objection from Dr. Enrique Olaya Herrera, chief of the Colombian delegation and his country's minister at Washington.

The Colombian's argument was that such agreements would take the form of military alliances, which were not wanted in the new world. Although declining absolutely to discuss specific cases, his obvious reference was to the recent defensive treaty between the United States and Panama that provoked bitter discussion throughout the Caribbean and was discussed before the League of Nations at Geneva.

After some debate, chairman Sampaio Correa of Brazil referred the issue to a special subcommittee composed of Mr. Fletcher, Dr. Olaya, and Felipe Esplá, of Argentina. The Americans are confident of working out an amendment which will safeguard the canal and at the same time satisfy all objections.

In addition to objecting to the American amendment, Dr. Olaya presented an amendment of his own whereby private commercial airplanes under contract to carry mails would be considered as government craft. This would give them a special status with neither the restrictions nor the advantages of commercial aircraft under the proposed treaty. Dr. Olaya's suggestion was in direct opposition to one by Dr. Esplá, who urged that all government aircraft carrying mails be considered as privately operated.

The whole Colombian viewpoint in the controversy harks back to two things:

First, the pending treaty of defensive alliance between the United States and Panama for the protection of the canal.

Second, the recent attempt by a German-financed aviation enterprise to connect Colombia with the United States by way of Panama and Central America by an air mail line.

This latter failed largely because military and naval authorities in the United States objected to granting the enterprise permission to land anywhere in the region surrounding the canal. More recently, a firm backed by American capital entered the field of establishing commercial airways in the Caribbean zone.

Under the proposed American amendment, Panama and the United States would be authorized to enter into an agreement prohibiting commercial aircraft from operating in certain areas about the canal. A similar agreement could be made between the United States and Cuba with reference to the Guantanamo area.

Outside the dispute between the United States and Colombia over the aviation treaty, the feature of today was the submission to the commission on international law of two proposals for a Pan-American court of justice to handle all controversies between the new world republics.

These proposals were offered by Costa Rica and Colombia. They paralleled in general the Pan-American court project offered at the Fifth Pan-American conference in 1923 by Costa Rica.

State Considers Radio Station

(By Universal Service)
SACRAMENTO, Calif., Jan. 24.—Establishment of a State government radio super station at Sacramento is being considered by the present administration.

The value of such a project in broadcasting agricultural reports, digests of marketing conditions and similar materials to the farmers of California has been urged upon Governor C. C. Young's cabinet by George H. Heckle, state director of Agriculture.

Alexander R. Heron, State Director of Finance, announced today that the matter is receiving careful study and that a state radio station, if established, would in all likelihood be made sufficiently powerful to reach many other sections of the country with accurate information on California developments and opportunities.

Richmond Youth Facing Charges Of Hit-and-Run

Arrest of Edward Ghidella, 21, of 228 Pullman avenue, Richmond in San Francisco charged with manslaughter as a result of the death of Ernest Wilkinson, bellboy, 480 Ellis street killed at Sixteen and Mission, last Sunday, was announced by San Francisco police.

Ghidella was arrested at Seventeenth and Portrero shortly after the first crash when he ran into a Municipal car. He was charged with having been the driver of the car that struck the machine in which Wilkinson was riding, the motorist recognizing the license plate.

Pending the trial Ghidella is being held by San Francisco police.

NAVY WAR CRY BRANDED MYTH

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Real Admiral Charles T. Plunkett's prophecy that the United States is headed for war with some foreign power, probably England, was characterized as a fairy tale by President Coolidge today.

Having read Plunkett's speech at New York on Saturday night, President Coolidge observed to visitors that there is no reason to take the Admiral's words seriously.

The United States is in no danger of being attacked, the President observed, and certainly harbors no thought of attacking any foreign nation.

Mr. Coolidge has always found in his experience as President that when the army and navy appropriation bills are pending in Congress, advocates of big appropriations seek to alarm the country with inflammatory statements about the danger of war.

"War-scare" speeches of subordinate officers, it was said, but he realized that if any effort were made to stop them they would be accused of attempting to muzzle and censorship.

Middle West Sought For Missing College Girl

(By Universal Service)
CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—Systematic search of the entire middle west for Frances St. John Smith, missing Smith College freshman was begun by authorities today.

Numerous reports from as widely separated points as Detroit and Hoopston, Ill., sent almost every police department in the Mississippi valley into a hunt for the co-ed.

At Detroit, police were bent on finding the sender of a letter to Miss Smith's parents, demanding $4,000 for her return. Dire consequences, such as treatment of the girl as a white slave, were threatened in lieu of payment.

At Hoopston, A. C. Keister told the authorities he had seen the girl last Thursday there. He said she was with another girl, who called her by the name of Francis. Both of the girls were dressed in overalls. He compared her with a newspaper photograph and avers she is the missing girl.

Based on reports from the east that Miss Smith had written an article for her school paper last year saying "unalloyed bliss would be to run away," police were inclined to credit Mr. Keister's statement. It is impossible they said that she is merely on a jaunt across the country with another girl.

At Joliet, close watch is being kept on the homes of other co-eds from Smith, in the hope that she may call the parents of one of her friends.

Detectives here were unable to trace her on information supplied by New York police. Inspector Henry of New York wired here and said that the girl would be found with another woman in apartments 15 and 16 at 115 West Eighteenth street.

The address proved to be a vacant lot, but in the belief that there may have been an error in the transmission of the message the detectives searched every building in the proximity of the address, but there was no trace of the girl.

Detectives here said they would exhaust every possible means to find the girl, but on the information available a systematic hunt was practically useless.

"It is possible" chief of detectives, William E. O'Connor said, "that she is being held by some kidnapping gang in some of the."

President Gets Act On Flood Legislation

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The first act of Mississippi flood legislation—a government appropriation of $550,000 for employment of county extension agents and home economics—is before President Coolidge for his approval.

The legislation was presented to congress by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, whose study of the flood-area convinced him that the badly-damaged municipalities were without funds to continue the employment of the agriculture teachers whose work had been valuable in promoting scientific farming.
